the scheduled time for the publication of the book.

The price of the "Tower" will be 75 cents if the purchaser has attended the College the past three quarters, $1.50 if he has attended only two quarters and $2.25 if he has attended only one quarter.

Next week the present "Tower" staff will make recommendations to the "Tower" board for the members of the 1939 staff. The elections for the new officers will be held in the Junior Class in the near future.

Active work on the "Tower" began after the Thanksgiving holidays and was completed April 1. This is a record time for the publication of the "Tower," which is coming out two weeks ahead of schedule.

Gene Hill, editor, made this comment concerning the "Tower:"

"We've worked hard and enjoyed it all. If there are any errors, typographical or otherwise, noticed, we hope you will kindly overlook them as we have sincerely done our best to eliminate them.

"All the glory goes to the efficient staff members who have worked for me. They gave me their complete cooperation which accounts for the early publication of the yearbook. The Tower this year is something entirely new and entirely different, so watch for it."

Fred Davidson, business manager, said:

"We appreciate the cooperation of the classes and organizations in paying promptly for their pages. Oh yes, Freshmen and others, I'll be around here again next year, so take care."

These two have labored hours in the photographic dark room and the composition room up over the stage in the auditorium almost every week day since active work began last fall. At any events of importance Fred Davidson, was present with his camera to cover the show for a place in the "Tower."

The 1938 "Tower" was printed by the Grimes-Joyce Printing Co. of Kansas City and the engraving was done at the Burger-Baird, Engraving Co. in Kansas City.

May Festival Week to Be Held at the College May 2-7

May 3, under the direction of Miss Alline Fentress. On Wednesday evening, May 4, the program will be entitled "The Dance Through the Ages," a program of original dance creations presented by the College Dance Club, under the direction of Miss Day Weems.

The College Symphony orchestra, Miss Fentress as conductor, will present a concert as the opening feature of Music Week. June Ernst and Rowena Richards will be featured on the programs as violin soloists.

June Ernst Is Soloist

June Ernst, a freshman from Clarinda, Ia., will play the Mozart Concerto in A major, with orchestral accompaniment. Miss Ernst has been studying with Miss Alline Fentress for the past year.

Rowena Richards, a senior in the Rosendale high school, will be featured in the Kreisler arrangement of the Vivaldi Concerto in C Major, written for solo violin and string orchestra.

Other interesting numbers on the program will include Beethoven's First Symphony, "Tales from the Vienna Woods," by Strauss and the stirring "Marche Slave" by Tchaikowsky. Marian Kirk, a senior in the College as well as a graduate violin student, will be the concertmaster.

Maryville high school students who will appear in the orchestra include: Charles Wolfers, Wade Moore, Jack Cook and Margaret Baker.

Next Wednesday night in the College auditorium the College Dance Club will present a history of the dance. The program will begin with a dance of the primitive man. With rhythms beaten on tom-toms the primitive man dances a dance of simple and strong movements.

History of Dance

The dance history follows on through the Egyptian, Grecian, Roman, Ballet, and Jazz periods. Other dances are interspersed between the dances of the definite periods such as the Folk dance, the Court dance, the Scarf dance, and the Gay Nineties dance.

All the dancers are College women who have been working the last two months on the presentation of the program.

Outstanding numbers of the program are the Primitive, in which football, track, and basketball stars are drafted to lend their magnificent physiques to the dance, and the Gay Nineties where a "Bicycle Built for Two" isn't enough.

The program, under the direction of Miss Day Weems, director of the dance of the College, will be presented Wednesday night of Music Festival week and is open to the public.

In assembly, 10 o'clock Wednesday, May 4, there will be a recital presented by the following seniors: Ted Tyson and Katherine Schulte, piano pupils of Miss Marian Kerr, Marian Kirk, violin pupil of Miss Fentress, and Helen Shipman, voice pupil of Mr. Hermann N. Schuster. On Thursday evening, May 5, the College Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. Clare Wigell, will give the program, while on Friday evening, May 6, the College activities of the week will close with a concert by the College chorus under the direction of Mr. Schuster.

Choruses in Concerts

Supplementing the College activities of the week will be a concert by the county elementary chorus on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and another concert by the county high school chorus on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Both of these programs will be directed by Mr.

LaVerne E. Irvine of the department of music.

In addition to the foregoing programs during May, the Music department will present a special program by Laboratory school pupils of the class of Miss Alline Fentress on Monday evening, May 9. On Thursday evening, May 12, there will be a violin recital by pupils of Miss Fentress. On Friday evening, May 13, a piano recital will be given by Miss Katherine Schulte, pupil of Miss Marian Kerr, while Miss Fentress will present Marian Kirk in a senior violin recital on Wednesday evening, May 18.

All evening programs will begin at 8 o'clock with the exception of the county high school chorus. There will be no admission charge for any of these programs. President Lamkin extends a cordial invitation to all students and their friends and interested citizens of the community to attend these concerts.

The Stroller

Not one of the 135 girls in the Dorm has been able to lure Hash-slinger Hutcheson into the parlor even once during the past two and a half quarters. But just one little H. S. gal from Polo brought him out of his den. Is Hutch slipping, haven't the Dorm gals got what it takes or did the Polo gal just have something extra? Blame it on Spring!

Paul Tracy is just as bad off as Hutcheson. He says that a H. S. gal from Maryville (lives on South Main, fellows) has something that none of the College girls have. Well, how do you Phares these days, Paul?

And who (you guess) was Dorothy Neil spring formalizing with one evening last week?

Ermil Miller certainly was the apple of certain H. S. gals' eyes. They said they just "adored" red shirts—and parkers.

Guess what? Henry Turner wants to learn just how to write a good French love letter. Someone is giving him competition at Parker House.

Avon Reeves is now in the able care of his up-to-now-absent G. F.

Ed Molitoris is now in the market for a nice Girl Friend if some nice Girl Friend is in the market for a very excellent specimen of manhood, athlete and socialite.

Why doesn't someone watch this sweet and innocent Lois Moore, she's so quiet that she must be up to something, and she doesn't need to study evenings, that's just a blind.

I had trouble getting around to check up on all the boys during the contests but most all of them played host to someone. And some of the girls, like Hattie Richards and Iola Argo think contests are too few.

Now that the "Great Lover" Liggett is back in school, some of the girls had better watch out.

My, my, didn't the International Relations speakers sit up straight in their chairs the other day.

STUDENTS HEAR TENOR

Several students and faculty members made a trip to St. Joseph on Tuesday, April 26, and heard a concert given by Lauritz Melchior, Metropolitan opera tenor.

Those who made the trip were:

Mr. and Mrs. Dorough, Dr. Smith, Mr. Sterling Surrey, Katherine Schulte, Lois Langland, Helen Shipman, Mynatt Breidenthal, Turner Tyson, Merrill Ostrus, Ted Tyson, and Miss Claire Winburn.

At the Theaters

AT THE MISSOURI

Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Anna May Wong in "Dangerous to Know," and Bruce Cabot in "Love Takes Flight."

Saturday night, 10:45 and Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, William Powell and Annabella in "The Baroness and The Butler." William Powell is Hollywood's most prominent screen butler. He got his start butling and he still is the only A-1 dramatic butler in Hollywood. Of course William Powell is famous for other roles than butlers, but when you see him in "The Baroness and The Butler," you will realize that butling roles were his first love. Few other actors have any success with such roles, but Powell has an air about him of being—well—maybe more than just a butler.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, Peter Lorre in "Mr. Moto's Gamble."

AT THE TIVOLI

Thursday—"Alcatraz Island," with Ann Sheridan, Dick Purcell.

Friday, Saturday, double feature—Bob Baker in "Courage of the West" and Preston Foster in "Westland Case."

Owl show Saturday nite and Sunday, Monday, Tuesday—"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," Mark Twain's immortal story of a boy, faithfully reproduced in modern technicolor. Tom Sawyer was an American boy who lived in the horse and buggy days on the Mississippi river perhaps for that reason he is read by Americans who will always regard him as a typical American boy. The current screen version of "Tom Sawyer," is no doubt the greatest "Tom Sawyer," to live on the stage or screen. If you liked the story, you'll like the screen version—it is that well produced.

College and university students compose 15 per cent of the U. S. of college age.

Warren Crow Optimistic About U.S. War Prospects

Cheerful Note Is Sounded by Graduate Who Speaks Before Social Science Club

Warren Crow, a graduate of the College and with a Master's degree from Wisconsin University, who is now working on his Doctor's degree, spoke at International Relations Club meeting Tuesday evening, April 19.

Mr. Crow spoke on the subject, "A Historian Looks at a Troubled World." He explained his use of the word historian, saying it was not used in an egotistical sense but as one who studies history and looks at the world from the historical view point.

Historical View Differs

"The historical view point," said Mr. Crow, "differs from that of others in that there is the idea of continuity. Civilization is not a series of stops and starts but a continuous flowing of the old into the new. The historical view point gives a long time view and makes one skeptical of theories aiming at Utopia. The historian recognizes that those wishing radical change fail to consider the human element. Great and sudden changes cost too much. A historian, therefore, is a liberal not radical or reactionary." "History," said Mr. Crow, "is a basis of all social sciences as ideas in all fields must have some roots in the past."

"And how does the application of the historical view point to world problems modify ones thinking on the troubled world?" asked Mr. Crow. "There is much talk that democracy is a failure. Its faults being that it moves slowly and clumsily, lacks power to act quickly in a situation and cannot present a united front. Examples portraying these are England in the Ethiopian situation, and the democratic powers in Spain."

Short-Time Views

"Those who take the attitude that democracy is a failure have a short-time view. They fail to consider economic positions and willingness of the more prosperous nations to concede to maintain peace. The very slowness and hesitancy of democracies to move is really an advantage. It prevents hasty or rash action, and resultant losses of revolutionary social changes. There are fewer ill considered wars, no great persecutions, but a slow steady stress of change without radicalism or reaction."

Democracies have a greater unity than totalitarian powers. The creed of democracy being, 'I don't believe a thing you say but I will fight to the death for your right to say it.' All faiths can unite under such a banner, and time has proven they will.

Democracy a Success

"Democracy has proven a success in the world. Examples are British Empire, France, United States, Czechoslovakia, Scandanavia, Finland, Switzerland, and many others which are testimonies of this. Democracy is better adaptable to changes in the world. The totalitarian, not democracy, will fail in a great crisis."

Concerning the world peace, Mr. Crow asked, "Are we heading toward another war? There are signs of war. The greatly increased armaments, two minor wars going on, the great unrest everywhere, and the many moves for adjustment including the annexation of Austria and Vienna."

Why are these things necessary and what do they mean? The Treaty of Versailles tried to fix unnatural boundaries and create conditions contrary to historical experience.

Not Ready for War

"How can adjustment be accomplished? The Austro-German unity was a necessity. The Italian conquest of Ethiopia can be justified. The conquest of China probably was necessary for Japan. What of the people subjected by these consolidations? We can merely say if others intervened, they would take their share. Wise heads in diplomacy see that these re-adjustments are necessary and are striving to keep place. The Anglo-Italian pact is a step in the right direction. More such guaranties will probably follow and in that way lead to an international accord. With this feeling of imminence of war dying down, there will no longer be the rush to armaments."

"The world," said Mr. Crow, "is not ready for a general war and one will not come for many years. The leaders of today are still too close to 1914 to be sucked in on the same bait."

In conclusion Mr. Crow said, "The long time view is an optimistic one. It keeps people from becoming too alarmed over small incidents. Only through this view can we be balanced well enough to enjoy the idea of progress in history."

Bearcats Bow to Rockhurst Nine in Baseball Opener

Kansas City Team Downs Locals By Score of 6 to 3 on Local Diamond

Errors proved the downfall of the Bearcat baseball team in its season's opener last Tuesday at the College diamond as the locals bowed to the experienced Rockhurst college team of Kansas City, by a score of 6 to 3. Johnny Pandolphe, Bearcat hurler, handcuffed the visiting batsmen, allowing only one earned run but a weak defense caused his doom.

Miller, Rockhurst, started the fireworks in the second inning when he slapped out a home run to give his team a lead that they held throughout. However, this was the only marker until the fatal seventh.

In the Maryville half of the second, Pandolphe poled out a long homer that was ruled foul by Umpire Arthur. There was considerable discussion of the hit by those present but the "ump" stood his ground.

In the seventh, Cain and Bergman got on by virtue of errors. McGrath singled to score Cain and Bergman raced to the plate on a wild pitch. When the ball was returned to the diamond, McGrath crossed the platter when Rogers, Maryville first sacker, threw wild to the plate.

Maryville showed some life in the seventh also as Pandolphe walked, advanced on a wild pitch and scored on Osborne's fielder's choice. Then R. Kurtwright rapped out one of his three singles to score Osborne.

Y's MEET AT HUT

The last regular meeting of the school year for the two Christian organizations, the YWCA and YM-

Needed Just a Bit Of Psychoanalysis

We have someone at our house who hasn't the slightest idea of what it takes to make a good citizen. He doesn't pay the least attention to morals and cares less whether a thing is right or wrong.

He has no conception of how to make a name for himself. He lays around the house all day and never does a lick of work. He isn't married, and yet he lives openly with a woman he loves, and makes no bones about it.

He has no concern for the tomorrow; the world could go to the dogs and it wouldn't make any difference to him. He's not interested in politics, business, nor the movies; he doesn't care to read books, and he never thinks of going to hear a lecture or to church.

Sometimes he listens to the radio, but if he doesn't like the program, he won't even turn it off. In fact, as far as intellectual and cultural background goes, he is totally lacking.

He doesn't like to smoke, drink, or dance, and night life doesn't interest him at all. But in spite of all these faults, we still love him—for he's our new baby!

To educate an R.O.T.C. student so that he can receive a reserve officer's commission when he graduates from college costs $739 where such training is compulsory.

WELCOME TO SHORT COURSE

On Monday of this week the annual five-weeks Short Course began at the College. Many students enrolled in the College whose schools have dismissed for the year. They intend to further their scholastic pursuits toward the acquiring of a degree.

As a representative of the entire College, THE NORTHWEST MISSOURIAN takes this opportunity to welcome the Short Course students.

WE WASTE OUR TIME

"I just didn't have time to do that."

How often do we hear these words echo through our halls and class-rooms. Time—time—always we race against time, but how well?

It has been said that time and tide wait for no man. Yet when certain students of the College are observed closely you might be inclined to disbelieve that adage. What can a person expect to achieve by loitering hours away on a hall bench or sleeping in the library? Granted that a certain amount of recreation, social life and variety are needed in the life of a well-balanced individual, yet the time required is hardly several hours a day.

From scientific study it is said that the average man works up to about twenty per cent of his capacity. Even the great Edison only worked at the rate of seventy per cent of his maximum.

Now, we can not all be Edisons. However, we can do something about this matter of wasted time. For those who are troubled with a degree of "abulia," the desire, but not the will, they should make out a definite daily plan and follow it to the letter. All freshmen here are advised to do that very thing; but how many do? For those self-satisfied souls who "just don't care," they might do well to consider the consequences. one broadcast over a real radio station and they have

THE HORACE MANN SCHOOL

The Horace Mann School, rising slowly and steadily, begins to show form and promise. The new building, long awaited and badly needed, is to be used next fall if at all possible. The equipment and furnishings for the building are now being considered.

Radio, somewhat of an innovation for most schools as yet, is one of the hopes for the new school. A Radio Guild has already been organized among the high school students with the idea that the group will function in the new building and furnish programs of different types for the entire school.

This would certainly be a fine educational accessory for the school if a radio speaker system could be installed. Not only would the students obtain valuable and interesting experience in actual broadcasting, but this would provide a possible means of actual class instruction.

The high school students have exhibited considerable interest in the Radio Guild, they have had high hopes for an active and interesting club. Of course, there is always the chance that out of this Guild will come some of the announcers, the radio advertisers, and the stars of the future. Fanciful though such may seem, this Guild otherwise will provide for a type of training that is yet neglected and becoming more necessary, training in the use of a microphone.

The best of luck to the Radio Guild, it has a fine start, the potentialities for good training, and high hopes for success.

MAGIC IN "MONICKERS"

Not all men have names, according to a recent edition of the Rotarian Magazine. At least, so say the ethnologists. A baby goes nameless in certain less civilized tribes lest the "evil eye" take a fancy to his cognomen and haunt him through life. If the child has to have a name, one sure to repel the "eye" is chosen—"Famine," for instance, or "Filth," or "War." In some tribes the child, upon reaching adolescence, does receive a name—which he vows to keep secret forever. Like as not, he forgets it. The tribal grownups, one may suppose, summon each other with, "Hey, you!" or its equivalent. If, however, one man learns another's name, he breaks any magic spell its possessor had over him... which must make life one long guessing game.

More civilized man pooh-poohs such magic, and it is meant that he should for he has found it to be a man-made hoax. But is there not magic—well, fascination, at least—in the names that surround him?

The stranger who sits across from you in the street car, in the hotel lobby, or at a club luncheon may mean nothing to you—until you hear his name. Then at once his personality begins to take shape in your imagination. Almost any study of any man begins with his name.

Suppose that, as you reflect on the nature of that man opposite you, a mutual friend importunes you to rise, marches you across to the stranger, and says, "Al, this is Steve." Whisk, goes the veil of ambiguity that surrounded the gentlemen, and soon you're well inside the walls of his singularity... where in the future you may make interesting explorations.

Nicknames and first names have long been keys to acquaintanceship in many clubs and social groups, though in some lands such informality is not wholly natural and, indeed, ought not to be forced.

Perhaps it is important to remember that names—first, nick, or last—can, when spoken, begin friendships that may last as long as the friends themselves—or longer.

BRAKES TO BASKETBALL

Many students and faculty members in the College last winter joined with the sports scribe in expressing their disapproval of the new rules of basketball which place the game in the category of being one of the fastest in the world. They claimed that the "race-horse" game was entirely too fast to watch, and that they were unable to see everything that took place.

For those persons who were dissatisfied with the excessive speed of the game last winter came an announcement this week which should apply the brakes to the game and slow it up somewhat when college and university hoopsters resume play next winter. The announcement came after a meeting recently of the National Association of Basketball Coaches in Chicago.

The two brakes applied to the game by the coaches were: The increasing of the number of timeout periods to five, and the provision for optional use of four ten-minute quarters instead of the usual twenty-minute halves.

The group also approved the use of a four-foot instead of a two-foot out-of-bounds margin behind the backboards and barred the making of substitutions after a goal is made until the ball is back in play.

With the application of these new rulings, perhaps we fans and followers of the Bearcats shall be able to follow to a higher degree of efficiency the tactics and plays of our favorite team.

The WRITERS' NOOK

Writing is an art. He who would express himself must find a medium. The painter must cultivate the art of painting. The musician must cultivate the art of music. He who would express himself in writing must cultivate the art of writing.

I

Across these thousand miles of land
and sea
I'd send my thoughts to you, remembering.
The magic of mere thought brought
you to me,
And you were here.
Then I would see each fleet expression of your face,
And I would feel strong arms, and
see dark eyes,
Strange how mere thoughts transcended time and space!

II

Across these thousand miles of land
and sea
I think of you again, remembering.
But thoughts no longer bring you here to me
They grant me grace—
For I have thought of you as if you were my own;
Now—I would hear some sweet remembered words
And I would see that soft and tender look,
And follow your eyes and find you.
—Not alone!

III

Then, this distance, that with the speed of thought
Quickly I could traverse, mile upon mile—
Will, because you've loved her,
seemed to long
To travel on a memory of a smile.
Indeed, if you were near and I could touch your hand
I know we shall be far—still far apart—
For what's a thousand miles of sea and land
Compared to the greater distances of the heart!

—Ana Virginia Benitez

DEFENSE

You! You!
You cannot see
The poor heart's inner misery.
You cannot search the darkened mind
Or you would show pity, and grow kind!
Your soul would sorrow if you knew
The deep strong seeds of human woe
Whence gnarled twigs of vices grow
Into bad trees you know today.
—E. Waldier

MY LIFE

My life is but a small book;
It contains only a page,
But the page is wonderful and magnificent
But surpasses those gaudy thick books
That have scarce a word for each leaf.

AN INSPIRATION

I know not what you are
Nor from where you come
I only know that you have soothed
a scar.
That needed soothing some.
—E. F. Lamison

SUPPLICATION

For ears attuned to hear the cry
Of someone's anguished heart;
For hands endowed with skill to bind
Deep wounds which bleed or smart;
For feet to succor those
Footsore and travel worn;
For love to lift and cheer the soul
That life has smirched or torn;
For strength that wavers not, nor flags
Before the close of day;
For these, dear Lord, I pray
That I may learn and teach.
—E. Waldier

HONOR

Honor, untouchable and might you are;
You've filled my heart with a love thought
And though you should be near, you are often far
But you are found most, where you are most sought.

I cherish you as a miser does his gold,
And I find your height in some one
I know,
Someone whose tongue is silent, but whose heart has told
That if he didn't love you more, he could not love me so.
—E. F. Lamison

A SUDDEN MOMENT

A sudden moment breaking bush
And hurrying over the sparse
Sands of day
Can push an action deeper
Than the words
You haven't said—
But I have felt you say.
You couldn't hurt
This way again;
Your words have bent their edge
On my lips, have broken short their hills
In cutting off the light
Between our eyes.
—D. Young

"CRADLE SONG" CANCELLED

The Newman Club, through the executive committee, has decided to cancel the production of "The Cradle Song." The committee held a meeting on Thursday afternoon, April 21, at which time the decision was made. The play was abandoned due to the overcrowded social calendar of the spring quarter and to conflicts that have arisen since practice on the play was begun.

Benton, Tarkio, Platte City Win Track Tops

College High School Places Second In Class C Track and Field Competition

FOUR OLD RECORDS FALL

St. Joseph Benton, Tarkio, and Platte City are the Class A, B, and C champions, respectively of the twenty-ninth annual high school track meet of the district.

With the track in the best shape in years, the St. Joseph schools, Benton and Central fought it out last Friday afternoon for honors in the Class A meet with Benton rolling up 62½ points to win by only 5½ tallies.

Tarkio, in the Class B competition, nosed out Albany to win with a total of only 23 points. Tarkio took only one first, the discus, but their well-balanced team scored consistently with seconds, thirds and fourths.

Otten of Benton took high scoring laurels in his division with a total of seventeen counters. He won both hurdles races and the high jump and took third in the pole vault.

College May Get Funds for Library

cess of construction with the use of funds appropriated by the state legislature, and it is hoped that the contract will be assumed by the Public Works Administration to release funds for the building of the library.

President Lamkin held a meeting of the College faculty Monday evening in which he discussed the possibilities of the new building. He stated that the College, in order to raise funds to match a like federal sum to apply on the library building, would need to cut down operating costs. The cut, he pointed out, will not be in personal service, but in other operating expenses.

At the faculty meeting Monday afternoon, the President discussed with the group problems which may have arisen from the Short Course enrollment.

President Lamkin this week released the following statement concerning the proposed new buildings:

In January 1937, the College made application to the PWA for grants for the training school building and a library. For the training school building the College asked $135,703 and for the library building a grant of $62,995.

To supply the state moneys the College asked for an appropriation from the Legislature out of general funds and out of the college funds. This appropriation was made, a total of $275,000 being made available for all types of "additions" purposes. This $275,000 appropriation included additions to library, laboratories, etc., so it left about $250,000 available for buildings.

Every effort was made to secure the allocation of PWA moneys in the year 1937. While tentative approval was given by the PWA authorities to both of these projects no money was ever allocated to them.

It was necessary to use the money appropriated by the Legislature during the biennial period ending January 1, 1939. In addition, the need for a training school building was acute. Enrollment in the College had increased so that it was difficult to find rooms in which to hold classes as long as the laboratory school utilized the lower floor of the building.

When it became apparent that no allotment would be made, the Board of Regents let the contract for the training school building using approximately $240,000 for this purpose.

In regard to these two projects there are now two "ifs." If the Government would assume the contract now made for the training school building, it would release enough money to match the government funds for the library building. All PWA requirements were met in the contract for the training school building.

If this is not done and if the College can raise $77,000, it will be able to supply its share of funds for a library building and it may be able to secure the second grant of $62,995 from the Government.
